The Declaration of Independence: A Close Reading

Text-Dependent Questions

Use the following method to address each of the questions below.
Discuss the questions in groups of 2 - 3.
Write what you think is the best answer to each question.

Text Under Discussion	Guiding Questions for Students
In Congress, July 4, 1776 The Unanimous Declaration of the Thirteen United States of America	 What can you infer about this reading from the opening "the Unanimous Declaration of the Thirteen United States of America?" What kind of text is this? What do you expect this text will be about?
When in the Course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the Laws of Nature and of Nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.	 What is the tone of this text in this passage? Which words in the text lead you to that conclusion? What has "become necessary"? What does this phrase imply about the actions taken by colonist prior to the declaration? What does labeling the Americans "one people" and the British "another" say about their union? How does the author's choice of the words "dissolve" and "separation" illustrate his point of view regarding the nature of this disunion? What "entitled" Americans to claim this separation? How does this justification affect their case for independence?

Text Under Discussion	Guiding Questions for Students
We hold these truths to be self-evident , that all men are created	7. What "self-evident" truths does the author identify?
equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain	8. How does the author's choice of the phrases "self-evident" truths unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the	and "unalienable rights" affect his argument?
pursuit of Happiness That to secure these rights, Governments are	9. Why are "governments instituted among men?"
instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of	10. What does "deriving their powers from the consent of the the governed, That whenever any Form of Government	governed" mean?
becomes destructive of these ends, it is the Right of the People to	11. Under what circumstances do the people have the right to "alter alter or to abolish it, and to institute new Government, laying its	or abolish" their government?
foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form,	12. According to the author, how should any new government be as to them shall seem most likely to effect their Safety and	created?
Happiness.	13. Explain the key point in author's argument in this portion of the text.

Prudence, indeed, will dictate that Governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes; and accordingly all experience hath shewn, that mankind are more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same Object evinces a design to reduce them under absolute Despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such Government, and to provide new Guards for their future security. -- Such has been the patient sufferance of these Colonies; and such is now the necessity which constrains them to alter their former Systems of Government. — Such has been the patient sufferance of these colonies; and such is now the necessity which constrains them to alter their former Systems of Government. The history of the present King of Great Britain is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having in direct object the establishment of an absolute Tyranny over these States. To prove this, let Facts be submitted to a candid world.

- 14. Explain the author's reasoning for declaring independence at this point in time.
- 15. Which words in this portion of the text illustrate the author's point of view on declaring independence from Great Britain?
- 16. How does the author's choice of words affect the argument for declaring independence?
- 17. Summarize the message the author is sharing with the "candid world?" Cite examples from the entire preamble.