

Of Mice and Men Project: Open-Mind Portrait

The purpose of an Open-Mind Portrait is to analyze a character, reflect on story events from that character's perspective, and to analyze themes throughout the story. There are two parts to this assignment: PORTRAIT and WRITTEN EXPLANATION (because, of course, there is a writing component 😊)

Directions:

- Choose ONE character from the novel.
- Choose a minimum of 10 items to be included in the portrait.
These items can include pivotal scenes from the novel, specific items that are important to your character, symbols that represent your character, important quotes, etc.
- Make a visual representation of each item by drawing pictures or cutting out images from magazines.
- You MUST include a separate page containing a complete paragraph (for each item) explaining its significance and why you chose it.
- Portrait must be neat and in color.
